WATCHING HEALTH OF POLICY HOLDERS

Industrial Insurance Firms Plan Social Aid.

WILL OFFER FREE NURSING

Extensive Programme of Medical Attendance Begun by Great Concerns—Will Co-operate with Charitable and Health Authorities. Find It a Paying Investment.

A new factor in combating disease has entered the field in Washington. In co-operation with the Instructive Visiting Nurses' Association, the industrial life insurance companies have inaugurated a "social programme," which promises to have a far-reaching effect upon the life of the masses.

The work involves the establishment of free nurses for the sick. The companies aim to exercise scientific care over those of its policy holders who will accept its aid in the event of illness. They may be accused of self-interest, for their purpose is the lowering of the death rate; yet this plan will be for the welfare of the community.

So successful has the plan worked in the larger cities that the insurance companies are contemplating its rapid expansion. It will soon reach all the important cities of the country. Everywhere a welcome is extended to it by settlement and charitable workers.

A Business Proposition. Such organizations as the Associated Charities have been quick to grasp the significance of the new plan, involving as it does the millions of the insurance companies behind it. The latter are frank to say that the "free nurse" system, established for the benefit of their policy holders, will not only prove a great life-saver, but a great money saver, and, therefore, do not ask to be given credit for a benevolent or philanthropic idea. The benefits are mutual.

Wherever their insurance has been granted the free nurse system will be extended. They will care for the sick, inculcate sanitary and hygienic principles, guard against disease, and report to the health authorities.

In Washington the companies will bring their assistance from the Instructive Visiting Nurses' Association, and contribute to the support of this organization in return. Slips were handed to the agencies of the companies Saturday and distribution was begun yesterday. These slips explain the plan, and request the co-operation of all policy holders.

"Ad will be extended promptly to all policy holders who will accept it," said one of the branch managers yesterday. "Of course, there can be no attempt to force it on any one, although we may feel that it is necessary. We will increase the force of nurses according to the demand. The plan is yet in the experimental stage, and it would be unwise to announce any contemplated expansion until we learn just how the public is going to accept it."

A New Epoch Begun. "We think, however, that life insurance administration has entered upon a new epoch with this work, which has been gradually developed, and the forces of social amelioration have been prompt to meet us half way. In Washington we look for the same success that has met us in Chicago and New York."

A still greater project will be launched by the industrial insurance companies in the near future—the establishment of great sanatoria in which tuberculosis patients will be given free treatment. The buildings would be under construction now if the rigid new insurance laws did not debar real estate investments. But it is deemed probable that the New York State legislature will amend the statutes at the next session so as to permit of the erection of sanatoria.

"The public may think this an extravagant and experimental project," said an insurance man yesterday. "They may think it wrong to spend the policy holder's money in this way. As a piece of cold calculation, however, it may be said that the lowering of the death rate even by a small fraction will mean the saving of many millions to the company. In contrast to this, the cost of constructing and maintaining a sanatorium will be insignificant. It pays to keep our policy holders in good health."

FUNERAL FOR PASTOR'S SON.

Boy Friends Bear Casket at Freedom Guthrie's Services.

Funeral services for Freedom Cowan Guthrie, the sixteen-year-old son of Rev. Charles E. Guthrie, pastor of Hamline Methodist Episcopal Church, were held in that church yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Rev. John W. R. Sumwalt, district superintendent of the Washington Methodist Episcopal churches, conducted the services. He was assisted by Rev. J. St. Clair Neal, pastor of the Gwynns Methodist Episcopal Church of Baltimore. The pallbearers were boy friends of the deceased. They were Ralph Chesney Bishop, William Moore, Ralph Benton, John Swarte, Roy Saunders, and Carl Lipp.

The official boards of the Hamline Church attended the services in a body. Interment was in Rock Creek Cemetery.

FLIGHT EXPECTED AT UNION PICNIC

Aeroplane Procured for Labor Day Celebration.

MARATHON RACE SCHEDULED

Central Labor Union Arranges Details of Annual Outing—Sheet Metal Workers Complain of Alleged Fireproof Roofing—Baltimore Labor Leader Delivers Speech.

Ranging from a discussion of the Labor Day celebration to a stirring address on the English unionist movement by Mark Jackson, of Baltimore, the meeting of the Central Labor Union was marked by a diversity of interests last evening.

The sheet metal workers presented a grievance before the body regarding a certain alleged fireproof roofing which is inflammable, according to their experience. The matter will be laid before the Commissioners by a committee composed of Sam De Nedrey, of the Trades Unionist; Charles Smith, of the Plate Printers, and Charles Dausch, of the Sheet Metal Workers. Three more members will be added to the committee by the Building Trades Council at its meeting to-night.

The question of bringing the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers to Washington from Peoria, Ill., was discussed briefly, and referred to the labor delegate to the Chamber of Commerce. The matter will be laid before the latter body and the Board of Trade.

The Labor Day celebration will include an aeroplane exhibition by a local inventor, whose machine is nearly completed and is guaranteed to fly. It was currently reported last night that Sam De Nedrey had determined to make the aerial flight, and no denials were forthcoming.

A Ten-mile Marathon.

A ten-mile Marathon race will be run under the auspices of The Washington Herald as the stellar attraction of the Benning celebration. A handsome cup will be offered to the winner of the run and a large list of entries is assured. The starting point will be in front of the office of The Washington Herald and the finish will be on the Benning race track.

The Labor Day event includes five motorcycle races, in which the leading manufacturers of the country will participate. There will be a ball game between Columbia Typographical Union, No. 301, and the machinists. A $30 prize will be awarded to the winning team. Potato and barrel races and freak sports of many varieties are being planned.

The McNulty faction of the sheet metal workers has won out in its clash with the Reed faction. The decision of the officials of the American Federation of Labor, after fully in favor of the former, and the Reed faction is thrown out of court. No change in local conditions will result.

With the declaration that American trades unionism was lagging far behind the European progress, Mark Jackson, a prominent labor leader of Baltimore, made a virile speech at the end of the meeting. He predicted that President Roosevelt was bringing a message from abroad which will astonish his co-workers in the unionist movement. The solidarity of the European laborer campaign was the secret of its progress, he concluded.

BRENNAN ESTATE DIVIDED.

Family Shares in Property Exceeding $150,000.

The will, dated August 12, 1905, and codicil, dated August 6 last, of Patrick J. Brennan, late president of the Brennan Construction Company, disposes of an estate valued at $150,000, of which $55,000 is in life insurance, $7,000 in real estate, and the rest in personal property. The proceeds of the life insurance are to be distributed equally between the widow, Marion G. Brennan, the children, Rudolph, fifteen years old; Thelma, nine years old, and Robert, six years old. Mrs. Brennan is to have $10,000 in cash and to share equally in the final distribution of the estate.

When the youngest child is twenty-five years old, William A. H. Church, N. H. Shea, and O. H. P. Johnson, executors and trustees under the will, are to distribute the remainder of the estate. As each child reaches majority, it is to have $10,000.

Requests of $500 are made to Providence Hospital, $500 to Rev. P. J. O'Connell, pastor of St. Vincent de Paul's Church, $1,000 to Mary Brennan, a sister; $1,500 to Agnes Brennan, a sister, and $500 to a sister, Margaret. The widow and children are represented by Attorney J. J. Darlington.

BALANCE ASKED FOR.

Commissioners Need Available Fund for Portable Schoolhouses.

Commissioner Macfarland has transmitted to the Secretary of the Treasury a communication calling attention to the provision of the urgent deficiency appropriation act approved August 5, 1909, for the transfer of unexpended balances of the public school funds, to be applied to the purchase of portable schoolhouses for temporary use, made necessary under the operation of the compulsory education law.

There is available from unexpended balance the sum of $5,500 which is needed for portable schoolhouses.

As soon as authority is received from the Secretary of the Treasury this sum will be transferred and paid the board of education for immediate use.
